Renishaw plc and the China RoHS Directive

Dear Customer,

The effect of the China Ministry of Information Industry, Order No39 - 'Measures for the Administration of the Pollution Control of Electronic Information Products', known as China RoHS, on Renishaw plc is as follows:

The Renishaw plc product lines have been assessed against the China Ministry of Information Industry 'Electronic Information Products Classification and Explanations' listing. Certain categories in the listing are judged to affect Renishaw plc products.

The affected Renishaw plc products have been assessed as falling within the business to business (B2B) category of the China RoHS legislation.

This is interpreted as a requirement for Renishaw plc to provide information about the concentrations of the 6 hazardous substances if requested.

It is Renishaw plc policy to supply the substance declaration information, in a timely manner, in the form of the substance declaration table as defined in China Electronic Industry Standard SJ/T11364-2006 'Marking for Control of Pollution Caused by Electronic Information Products', section 6.2.1.

If this information is required contact Mark Acres at Renishaw plc using the contact details at the foot of this document.
